

RHONDA WEISS CENTER FOR ACCESSIBLE IDEA DATA

Who we are.

The Rhonda Weiss Center for Accessible IDEA Data, or Weiss Center, is a technical assistance data center under the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP).

What we do.

Improve state capacity to collect, report, analyze, and use IDEA Part B and Part C data in accessible, dynamic formats.

Why we do it.

To ensure the equitable access of IDEA data by individuals with disabilities, resulting in improved student outcomes.

How do we do it?
Scan to learn more!

This Center is named in remembrance of Rhonda Weiss, a senior attorney with the U.S. Department of Education and a staunch advocate for disability rights with a visual impairment of her own.